FREDERICO ANDRADE

✳

EXPERIENCE

2013 to date
Full-time from 01.2016

Wikitongues

Co-founder, chief platform officer, board member (volunteer). I crafted the organization's brand meeting strategic goals, and produced all of the collateral (business cards, pamphlets, presentation materials, ads). I conceived, designed and implemented an open source tool Poly to advance the organziation's mission, presented it by invitation at the New York Tech Meetup's respected Hack of the Month segment and raised a record breaking kickstarter campaign to build it and the distributed team of open source contributors that helps me maintain it.

10.2013 to 05.2015

Amicus

Product manager, front-end developer, ui/ux designer at this Y Combinator company. I branded, led product design and strategy, and managed the implementation of Amicus Post, a tool that replaced the core business and was featured at NY Tech Meetup. Amicus Post is a widely used direct action tool for political advocacy and outreach, trusted by Airbnb, the Human Rights Campaign, Greenpeace, Everytown for Gun Safety and many more. Amicus has since re-branded the business to use the visual vocabulary I developed for Amicus Post.

08.2013 to 12.2015

Additional Contracting

Design and implementation of branding, product ui/ux and marketing websites. Throughout the last few years, I have taken on a range of contracting opportunities to broaden my horizons and network, and have the flexibility to implement new stylistic approaches and usability feels. Clients include Airtable, Datamonkey, Quotidian Ventures, DV01, Matte, the National Sawdust and Vision Into Art.

...

AWARDS, PRESS

06.2016

Creators and Creatives

"In a time when languages are dying out at an unprecedented rate, Frederico Andrade strives to preserve the world's linguistic diversity."

04.2016

Recurse Center Hackathon

Partnered with prestigious computer programming school for Poly hackathon

02.2016

Public Radio International

"This nonprofit wants to build a tool to share [...] all the world's languages"

03.2015

Record breaking Kickstarter campaign

Most funded campaign in the translation category

06.2014

New York Tech Meetup

Hack of the month by invitation for Poly

...

EDUCATION

2009 - 2013

Parsons, the New School for Design

Valedictorian, Design and Technology BFA

CONTACT

faandrade@gmail.com 1 917 683 8299
github.com/fredericoAndrade

STATEMENT

I was awarded the prestigious O-1 visa recognizing my work at Wikitongues and other NY tech companies. Recent responsibilities include producing Poly, a world-class web app, building and maintaining an open source developer community to support it, and bringing in top talent to the organization's board of directors. In addition, I implemented creative strategies and partnerships to nurture and edify the organization as it scales.

DISCIPLINES

lean, agile development cycles product strategy, ui/ux full-stack software development graphic design, editorial concept art, illustration film, stop motion

SOFTWARE

rails, postgres, heroku, firebase react.js, es6, jq ember.js, handlebars node, express processing, arduino adobe creative suite, sketch autodesk entertainment suite

COMMUNICATION

portuguese fluent french intermediate spanish intermediate italian basic japanese basic

WIKITONGUES

Wikitongues is an international 501(c)(3) non-profit I founded and am on the board of, dedicated to stopping language loss worldwide by raising awareness about cultural diversity through language, and building tools to for communities everywhere to defend, document and share their languages.